Minneapolis and Duluth reported recelpts of 550 cars of wheat, compared with only 228 on the parallel day of the previous week and 221 acrs on the corresponding day of the year before.
That caused the market open rather weak and at about ¼ cent under the previous day's closing price. The foreign markets were quoted firm or at least steady, and the week's shipments from the other exporting countries of the world were lighter than on the week before. That in a very short time than for last western receipts and being followed up by the figures of the Atlantic clear-ances and for twenty-four hours, which proved to be heavy, the easy opening was succeeded in about ten minutes by a period of quite bullish activity, during which May advanced from 52½ cents about the opening to 53 cents in less than forty-five minutes. A falling off in the Russian shipments was more the influences which underlay among the influences which underlay the bullishness which succeeded the first weak spell. Later, with Pard-ridge selling, the price worked off again on the level of the opening rates When Bradstreet's statement of the visable supply came to hand at noon, the price of May wheat was 52% cents the price of May wheat was $2% cents bid, and although there was a spurt of activity following the announcement and although the report was bullish, the price only gained % cent to immediately lose it again. The statement showed a total decrease in the world's visible supply of 2,280,000. English and continental markets clearly from standy. to firm, but for a time there was a dis-position to sell, on account of reports from the seaboard that there was no cemand whatever from exporters to-day. The market here began to im-prove again and about half an hour from the close there were buyers at 52% cents. At the advance, there was more selling and May closed at 52½

The corn market was moved about in line with the fluctuations in wheat. The range was not wide but the market made up for the narrowness of its made up for the narrowness of its range by going over it several times. Partridge was supposed to be a seller on the hard spots. The day's receipts were liberal at 447 cars, but only 115 cars are expected tomorrow. Export clearances for the day were fair. Primary western markets received 287,000 bushels, compared with 655,000 a year ago. May opened today at 44% cents and dropped down to 44% 44% for an instant before improving upon the instant before improving upon the starting price. New York, Feb. 19.-The stock market showed remarkable firmness today At the opening there was a loss of about 1/4 per cent in most of the active list but a good buying movement was quickly developed under the influence of which a brisk advance was recorded, led by New Jersey Central and the other coal stocks, in which Northwest also participated largely, the improvement ranging up to 1% per cent. The higher range of values induced sales to real-Central and Sugar broke 14 per cent, and the rest of the list 1/4 per cent. The temuer of speculation underwent a marked change about 1 o'clock and the market put on a good tone under purchasing of moderate volume. The buying continued to the close, which was quite firm and the final sales showed gains in a majority of the active list and a number of the specialties, Silver being materially lower. The prospectus of the Belmont-Morgan bond syn-dicate was issued just before the close of business on the stock exchange, but not in time to have any effect on the share market, if it was at all calculated to have any influence on the current speculation. The more important advances on the day are: Minneapolis and St. Louis 1½ per cent; Lake Erle and Western preferred 1% per cent and and Western preferred 1% per cent and the Grangers 16.0% per cent, except Burlington, which is unshanged from yesterday's final price. In the list of declines are Sugar, Norfolk and Western preferred and Leather preferred per cent: American Tobacco 1% per cent St. Paul M. and M., 3% per cent and American Cable 2% per cent. National Starch first preferred made a break of 10 per cent on the liquidation of a small block of the stock. Foreigners were not in the market here to any extent today. Speculation in the bond market today was quiet and of an uninteresting character. The total sales were $704,000. Keokuk and Des Moines firsts sold at 36% per cent on 165½ per cent against 161½ per cent on January 16. The other important changes are: Advances—Oregon improvement consol flives 2 per cent. VACCINE POINTS.

Their Scarcity Felt in Washington, Where People Cry for Them.

During the recent smallpox scare one apothecary in Washington sold eighteen thousand "vaccine points" within twenty-four hours. On a Friday, when the general fright was greatest, the sired quantity in an absolutely pure supply gave out. Physicians telegraphed in every direction for points. In the drug store referred to a big crowd was waiting. A small quantity their hands over their heads men, women and children struggled like anxious betters at a racetrack. One would have supposed, says the Washon procuring the points, of which there were not nearly enough to go around. "Here's my money:" yelled one man.

> terday!" cried a woman. "I'll pay you one dollar apiece for six points!" shouted another man, evidently the anxious father of a family. In one day of the scare the apothecary said he had made more money than he had ever made in two days out of his business. Somebody came to him and offered to buy out his entire made to corner the supply.

A well-known physician in Washington ascertained that a patient of his had possession of an extra vaccine point. He went and begged it of him. One little boy called at the Emergency hospital and asked, with tears in his eyes, to be vaccinated.

"You go out and get one of those things," said the surgeon in charge, "and I'll vaccinate you.":

The boy went to the apothecary and begged a vaccine point, Then he reated upon.

FADS IN EUROPE.

Principal Games Which Are Amusing the

People of the Old World. An Italian editor has been investigatting the principal games in fashion in Europe during the dull weather. He finds the present craze in England is clay modeling, the selected victimsand generally misundertood-being Mr. Gladstone and "Sir Harcourt." In Belgium, especially in the "Rockerschubs." slow smoking races are the fashion. These lend themselves favorably to bets. Big Flemish pipes are loaded with half an ounce of tobacco, and he is winner who can smoke his own through in the longest time without relighting. Present record, sixty-seven minutes to one pipe.

Loaping beans are the amusement of Italy and southern France. The inventor has had whole fields of them sown in Mexico and the larvae carefully preserved. The bean leaps best on hot plates, but the southerners paint them as kings and queens and use a little gunpowder. Then the figures go into convulsions and the game is called "L'anarchie."

Germany, of course, is occupied with the war game, and France has selected "divinettes," or guesses at the future.

A Discriminating Owl. A Ledyard farmer, eleven miles south of Norwich, Conn., bagged a hoot-owl with a steel trap at his hen-house one night recently, the biggest, greediest, most feroclous one probably ever taken in the county. The bird had visited his farmyard half a dozen times after nightfall, and on each visit picked up one of the farmer's fat hens or plump chickens and went away to his home in a hollow tree with his prey. Finally he tackled a twelve-pound turkey gobbler. The turkey struggled with his foe, however, and a fierce battle ensued, in which the turkey was speedily slain, but the owl was unable to get away with his game, and after partly plucking it by the "dry process," pop-ular in the Nutmeg state, left the gob-bler's remains—head, bone and a peek of feathers-in the farmer's yard.

DANGEROUS INSECTS. Bedbugs as Conveyors of Tuberculous and

Other Infection.

French sanitarians are just now considerably agitated over the question of bedbugs. Dr. Felix Bremond argued before the commission of hygiene that the bedbug is a nuisance and a cause of disease, and so thoroughly convinced the commission of the correctness of his ideas that the extermination of the chosen trappings of folly. - Johnson. bedbug in infested lodging houses was ordered forthwith. But the lodginghouse keepers had become so much attached to the society of this cheerful pet that they entered a vigorous protest to the demands of the commission, and threatened them, and the tenants of

Drs. Bremond and De Wevere have made a careful study of the relation of bedbugs to health, and have shown ble to its ravages, but also through it becoming the means of transmitting the microbes of tuberculosis. One case is cited in which such a communily afterward, his brother, who occupied his bed, became infected with general tuberculosis. The physician in attendance noticed that he bore marks of many attacks by bedbugs, and, being led to suspect this source of infection, examined the bugs, and found that a large portion of them carried tubercular bacilli in their alimentary canals. Rabbits bitten by the same bugs contracted the disease and quickly died of it. An infusion made from the bugs by crushing them was also found to contain the microbes, and when injected into small animals quickly gave rise to the disease. This is a question which ought to receive the attention of the sanitary authorities in our great cities. It has long been known that flies may communicate cholera, charbon and other infections, as erysipelas and possibly yellow fever. It has also long been known that earthworms are a means of dispensing charbon infections. Mosquitoes convey certain animal parasites, as falaria; possibly also the parasites of malaria. It is possible that many insects may be engaged in this mischievous activity. This is a matter to which sanitarians may well give consideration.-Medical
